The Barnes Foundation, a Merion, PA-based organization that continues founder Albert C. Barnes' mission to promote fine-arts appreciation and education, commissioned the development of 12-ft.-tall sections of murals, which measure up to 130 ft. long, that promote the foundation's future home on Philadelphia's Benjamin Franklin Parkway. Cloud Gehshan Assoc. designed the program with Adobe's Photoshop and Illustrator programs. Urban Sign & Crane produced inkjet-printed panels of 3M's Controllac film wrapped over Nudo Products' AlumaCorr™ panels that were attached with a series of modular, arched sections connected to form the ribbon.

Underscoring mural diversity, this Cloud Gehshan project features seven donor panels, which total 200 sq. ft., that feature DuPont's SentryGlas® safety glass that ORKA etched and filled with paint. To create the intricate imagery, Cloud Gehshan scanned the floral imagery at a very high resolution.
